Ancient Indian Pipes Get Fireproof Security

Plans are being made to put religious objects of the Gros Ventres Indian tribe in a fireproof building for preservation.

Of particular interest are two pipes possessed by the Indians. The flat pipe is believed to have been given to the tribe when the world was made, and the feathered pipe is said to have been given an ancient chief during a violent storm.

Woman, 89, Brains Ring WEST CONCORD, N.H. (U.P.) Though Mrs. George Stevens is 89 years old, she braided a rug of eight yards in circumference in only six weeks.

Tin Can Cook Injured SAN RAFAEL, Cal. (U.P.) When the nation begins to live entirely on canned goods, as sometimes is predicted, it may be necessary to give husbands instructions even in the simple art of serving canned goods. In the absence of his wife, Wesley J. Lavigne put a can of tamales in water to boil. The water soon boiled away, and just as LaVigne rushed to rescue the tamales the can exploded. He went to a hospital.

Thieves Steal Wharf METHUEN, Mass. (U.P.)—Add freak robberies: thieves stole a wharf from Camp No. 2 at Forest Lake. Nothing else was taken.

Negroes Prefer Names of Historic Characters

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U.P.) Many names from the pages of world history are possessed by Negro servants of Miami Beach. During the registration and fingerprinting of servants, which is required by a city ordinance, names of Negro domestics included:

Benjamin Franklin, Christopher Columbus, Jesse James, General Washington, Queen Anne, King Solomon, Mary Magdalene and Stonewall Jackson.

Baseball Goes Soft NEW YORK (U.P.)—America is going soft. The National Recreation Association has reported that there were more participants in softball during 1937 than in official baseball.

U. S. Government Now In Big Toledo Business

TOLEDO (U. P.)—Uncle Sam is No. 1 business man here. He has $500,000 of savings in his postal bank, owns 800 homes, has mortgages on 8,800 dwellings. Besides being the biggest employment insurance agent—handling old age and unemployment insurance—he has more than $530,000 invested in banking and industry.

College Teaches Candymaking BERKELEY (U.P.)—With the United States consuming more than 1,500,000,000 pounds of candy annually, or about 13 1/2 pounds per capita, the University of California has deemed it expedient to add a course to its curriculum in candy-making.

Corporation Will Hunt Loch Ness "Monster"

GLASGOW (U.P.)—A company capitalized at $7,500 is being formed to hunt the famous Loch Ness "monster." One hundred men and women, most of them from the south of England, have promised to support Capt. D. J. Munro, 69, of

New Galloway, in a three-month "monster-hunting" expedition on Loch Ness this summer.

Dollar-a-Minute Fine BUFFALO, N. Y. (U.P.)—A dollar-a-minute is the penalty imposed on Charles Sullivan, 23, for blowing his automobile horn at 1 o'clock in the morning. Charged with violating the city's anti-noise ordinance, Sullivan was fined $10 by City Judge George W. Woltz.

Great Lakes Vessels Considered for Radio

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—Headquarters have been established here for a survey of all vessels which ply the Great Lakes with the aim of establishing uniform radio requirements as a safety measure.

Great Lakes boats now are controlled by the ship act of 1912. By this act only 12 boats out of 900 that ply the lakes are compelled to carry radios. Receipts 100 Years Old PAINESVILLE, O. (U.P.)—Six receipts almost 100 years old were discovered in some old furniture by E. L. Cunningham.

Student Dances Make $131 for Coordinators

A detailed report on the gate receipts and expenses for the 21 student dances sponsored in the Civic Auditorium during the past six months by the Torrance Coordinating Council was made to the city council Tuesday night by Vernon Coil, immediate past president of the Coordinators.

The financial statement showed that the Coordinators have a reserve of $131.25 in the bank with all expenses paid and today Coil and President John E. Miller are returning a sum of $61.50 which was "borrowed" from local merchants to help start the dances.

The first student hop only drew a $5 "gate," Coil said. But the 21 dances constantly gained until the record night on the 13th dance—when a total of $71.20 was received. The last dance resulted in a $55.50 gate.

President Miller pointed out that the Coordinators were glad to come before the city council with such a report instead of asking for more funds. He said that the Coordinating body plans to use its $131.25 surplus to finance recreation projects for local young people's groups and thank the council for the free use of the auditorium which made such a report possible.

NEW BOOKS... AT THE LIBRARY

BLOW FOR A LANDING by Be-Burman:

This is a novel rich in river lore, quaint characters and real American humor. "A great adventure in American folk ways," says Mark Twain and, in later times, Carl Carmer's tales of the land will identify the Pennys. They were a hanty folk until Mrs. Penny decided to live on land more vividly. She gave up his beloved cigar box guitar and showboat career to buy bottom land and build a log house. In the end, however, the Pennys went back where the house could float and the catfish were free.

THE MORTAL WRITTEN by Phyllis Bortol:

Mrs. Bortol has written a moving story, not a tract, and her very aloofness make the events she portrays make the events more vivid. All characters who become involved in National Socialism are more impressive than any preaching could possibly be. The locale of this novel is Bavaria and the characters, the members of a liberal family. The story pictures the family's disruption against a political backdrop of greater chaos. The heartbreak of a great nation confronts the thoughtful reader.

THE SWORD AND THE ROSE by A. W. Smith: This book could be a new classic. It was written by a man who knew the English army inside and out. This is the story of a famous British Regiment of the line, the officers who commanded it, the men who served it and the women who followed its fate with their hearts. This Regiment with all its old world traditions plus a cargo of new post-war recruits is sent back to an India which natives are beginning to rule. Called by some reviewers a sequel to Kipling's stories of the British army in India and by some an old-fashioned novel, it is at any rate very good reading.

SHIP OF THE LINE by C. S. Forester: Readers of "Beat the Quarters" by the same author will welcome the further adventures of Captain Hornblower. Wonderful to relate, this sequel is better than the first tale. Captain Hornblower has developed; the book is more skillfully written. While we are spared nothing of the misery and horror of war we are nevertheless carried away by the excitement of it. The real theme of the novel is the mind of the commander.

William McFee, himself a sea-faring man and a well known writer of sea stories, says: "Hornblower is a genuinely brave man and I imagine much more typical of naval officers of the period than the celebrated Captain Bligh."

It is important to emphasize this because "Ships of the Line" is a lesson for us under the surface of the adventure. Forester drives home the eternal truth that without character we can have no commanders and without men with the temperament and aptitude for command we can do nothing with ships. We hear much of the building of armaments and of the rights of seamen but nobody seems to remember that nobody ship nor the seaman is any good without competent officers, and competency at sea is a matter neither of passing examinations nor joining trade unions.

THESE FOREIGNERS by William Seabrook: It is clear from the book that Seabrook has a good time gathering his material for this work. Hambling all over the continent from New York to California, and equipped with some deep-rooted curiosity that made him search out the ways of native peoples in strange lands, he sought these foreign elements in the habitats they have made their own. In metropolitan and rural centers that showed a large percentage of foreign born he talked to big men and little men. Here is his human, always lively account of "these foreigners," a realistic statement about what our new citizens contribute to this land of their adoption, how they live, and how they are treated. His conclusions are happy ones, there is good material in the American melting pot.

Harbor Chambers Meeting Tonight

A number of local residents will attend the dinner-meeting of the Harbor District Chamber of Commerce tonight in Hawthorne, which will be held at the Jones building on Hawthorne boulevard starting at 6:30. Dr. Walker P. Dosty, superintendent of public instruction for the state, will be the principal speaker, according to President Irving P. Austin.

PERMIT LUNCH WAGON

A permit was given O. J. Casey of Los Angeles this week to operate a traveling lunch wagon in the South Torrance oil field between 230th and 238th streets.

HARVEST COMEDY by Frank Swinnerton: "Harvest Comedy" is a rich, lengthy and well-continued story written by a master craftsman. The lives of three men and a woman are outlined in it from school days to middle age; four principal characters, four dramatic life times, all connected and all conditioning one another. The author's great gift for creating real people, men and women who have the warm vitality of actual existence has never been shown to better advantage.

FIFTY YEARS A COUNTRY DOCTOR by William M. McCartney:

In this folksy, lusty account of the experiences of a rural practitioner there is more than a little reminder of frontier days when human ingenuity was all that stood between life and death. Far from hospitals, medical centers and trained nurses, the doctor demanded a lively imagination as well as skill, and he was expected to accomplish the variety of things that in a well regulated city clinic keep at least ten specialists busy.

His was unquestionably a hard life but one with lots of excitement and infinite variety, and "there was time for laughter and to note the changing beauty of the countryside, as well as farming choice stories from his former and village patients with which he enlivens every chapter." It is a frank human document of memorable quality; a wise bluff old medic's remarkable career in the American backwoods.

THE YEARNING by Marjorie K. Rawlings: This is the story of one splendid year in the lives of three people: The Baxters, father and mother and son Jody, "the yearling"; a year of life hard and free and eventful against a natural background of surpassing beauty. Curiously described as a modern Tom Sawyer, a legend of lost childhood, it is chiefly concerned with Jody, the boy of the Florida hummock country and Flag and Faun who grew up together. The vibrant picture of the Baxter family is crowded with comedy of character, full bodied folk-wisdom and with silence and the excitement of the backwoods hunt and violence of tropical storm.

THEN CAME OIL by C. B. Glascock: Glascock, who has for some years studied the rise and fall of great American fortunes in the West, from mining to automobiles, now turns his attention to the oil industry, particularly in Oklahoma. The many readers who enjoyed "Robber Barons" and "Bandits and the Southern Pacific" will find in this study the same painstaking, accurate and straightforward account of events and developments in themselves greatly exciting. Oklahoma or rather old Indian Territory probably is accurately described as the Last Frontier. He retells the story of the great land rush; the magnificent conflict, industrial and social and then the Oil Boom; the search for oil, one of the most exciting and heart breaking forms of gambling ever devised by man. Something of the life stories, ups and downs, of the principal characters in the development of the Oklahoma fields is included in this picture of a remarkable epoch.

Boy's Hand Mangled In Auto Crash

It required 50 sutures to bind up ten-year-old Richard Otero's mangled right hand at Torrance Memorial Hospital last night when he was brought there following an auto accident at the corner of 166th and Western avenue. The boy was riding with his father, F. Otero, Los Angeles butcher who lives at 81945 Manhattan Place, Manhattan Beach, when their car was stuck in the side by another machine.

Young Richard happened to have his hand on the windshield when the crash came and the glass cut it to pieces. One cut on his forehead was also sutured. Today his condition is described as only fair.
